

Dr. Ray O. Johnson, a global executive focused on business, innovation, and diversity, is the Senior Vice President and Chief Technology Officer of the Lockheed Martin Corporation. As an Officer of the Corporation and a member of the executive leadership team, Dr. Johnson guides the Corporation's technology vision and provides corporate leadership in the strategic areas of technology, engineering, production and supply chain operations, and program management, which include more than 72,000 people working on more than 4,000 programs that provide some of the nation's most vital security systems. He also leads the Corporation's Advanced Technology Laboratory and the Center for Innovation, a world-class laboratory for collaborative experimentation and analysis involving Lockheed Martin, its customers, and industry partners. He has a proven track record in managing large P&L organizations, strategic planning, program development, program management, and venture capital funding.

Dr. Johnson currently serves as a member of the Sandia Corporation and the National Math and Science Initiative Boards of Directors. He is a member of the Governing Board of the Indo- US Science and Technology Forum and a sponsor of the DST-Lockheed Martin India Innovation Growth Program. Dr. Johnson serves as a Vice President in the International Astronautical Federation, and he is a member of the Board of Directors of the American Associates of the STS Forum. He is on the Board of Directors of the Northern Virginia Technology Council and the Virginia Center for Innovative Technology. He is also a member of the Virginia Innovation and Entrepreneurship Investment Authority. He is a member of the Board of Visitors for the A. James Clark School of Engineering and the School of Computing, Mathematics, and Natural Sciences at the University of Maryland, on the Dean's Advisory Council for the College of Engineering at Carnegie Mellon University, and a member of the Board of Affiliates of the Rice University Professional Science Master's Program. Dr. Johnson is a member of the Georgia Tech Advisory Board and the West Point Department of Systems Engineering Board of Advisors. He is also the chairman of the USA Science and Engineering Festival's Advisory Board.

He is a Full Academician of the International Academy of Astronautics (IAA), a Fellow of the International Society for Optical Engineering (SPIE), the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA), and the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE). He is a member of Eta Kappa Nu, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi. Dr. Johnson also chairs the US Council on Competitiveness Technology Leadership and Strategy Initiative.

Dr. Johnson holds B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees in Electrical Engineering.